Johnson Tells Turkey: 'Hands Off Of Cyprus'

U.S. Takes Direct Hand After Threat

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI) — President Johnson has warned Prime Minister Ismet Inonu against any possible Turkish invasion of Cyprus, reliable reports in Ankara said Friday.

Johnson was said to have taken a direct hand in the Cyprus crisis following reports of a massive Turkish military buildup at the southern port of Iskenderun. The port is only 120 miles from the island of Cyprus where feuding Greek and Turkish Cypriots have been waging bitter inter-communal warfare since last year.

In Washington, the White House confirmed that Johnson has invited Inonu to Washington. But there was no confirmation of the report of a direct warning against an invasion.

FORCES ALERTED

In Greece, however, Prime Minster George Papandreou reacted to the reports of a troop and fleet buildup by summoning army chiefs and his defense and foreign ministers to an emergency midnight conference at his home. Reports put the Greek armed forces on "immediate alert."

"Greek armed forces are fully ready to meet immediately any developments," Undersecretary of Defense Michael Papaconstantinou said in Athens.

Authoritative sources said the "readiness" included troops movements to undisclosed areas. Senior Greek military officers on leave have been recalled, the sources said.

Greece and Turkey — both members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—joined in guaranteeing the independence of Cyprus when Britain set the island free. The United States fears that a possible Greek-Turkish clash over Cyprus could wreck the Western alliance.

PEACE FAILS

Earlier Friday, Inonu made a radio broadcast to the nation in which he said that peaceful attempts to protect the Turkish minority on Cyprus have failed.

"We don't intend to deteriorate relations with (NATO) member nations or arouse difficulties unless our defense requirements so necessitate," Inonu said.

But he also declared that Turkey is "obliged to provide for the (Turkish Cypriot) community's unshakeable security for the future."

Cypriots of Greek extraction outnumber Turks on the island by about four-to-one. Archbishop Makarios, the president of Cyprus, is a Greek Cypriot.

Late last year Makarios announced he would seek abrogation of the treaties under which Britain, Greece and Turkey guaranteed the island's constitution.

In his radio broadcast, Inonu said:

"The fact is that it has been impossible to protect the rights and security provided for the Turkish community (on Cyprus) by the treaties through peaceful means and internationally adopted measures."

Inonu said Turkey was "obliged to provide for the community's unshakeable security for the future."

ASIAN POLICY GAP

U.S. Tells France Of Firm Intention For Vietnamese

PARIS (AP) — Undersecretary of State George W. Ball told President Charles de Gaulle on Friday that the United States will stand firm in its support of the antiguerrilla war in South Viet Nam. This left the gap open between U.S. and French policy in Southeast Asia.

President Johnson's special envoy spent an hour and 15 minutes with De Gaulle in Elysee Palace. Ball outlined the U.S. position on the basis of two days of intensive policy review by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara in Honolulu this week, informants said.

HONOLULU VIEWS

The sources said Ball advised De Gaulle of Johnson's views on the recommendations resulting from the Honolulu meeting, which were reported to be increased economic and military aid to the Saigon regime. Whether Johnson favored the increases as suggested was not revealed by the informants, but they said Ball made clear that American support in Viet Nam will continue.

Ball told correspondents: "I had an interesting and useful discussion with the president."

He added he was quite happy with the talks, but would not go into further detail.

The atmosphere was described by both American and French sources as friendly, despite the known policy differences between De Gaulle and President Johnson's administration.

U.S. and French sources said the chief topics were South Viet Nam and Laos. Neither side would say much more about the talks.

De Gaulle believes neutralization is the only workable solution for the states of former French Indochina — Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia — and for Southeast Asia as a whole.

The French feel that such a neutrality should be guaranteed by the United States and Red China.

GOV. ROBERT SMYLIE

Goldwater Safe At Meet, Idahoan Says

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon were formally invited Friday night to join the presidential lineup as guests at the 56th annual Governors Conference.

The separate invitations, which both were expected to accept, were dispatched by the host committee as talk of a "stop Goldwater" movement was being downgraded by key Republican governors.

SPOTLIGHT SHARE

The decision was based on a desire to give Goldwater, who now has the GOP presidential nomination almost in his grasp, and Nixon a share of the conference spotlight which will be focused on New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and other potential GOP nominees holding governorships.

And it was expected that the conference will renew its invitation to President Johnson in the hope he will reconsider his earlier decision not to address the governors.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho, chairman of the Republican Governors Association, was first to dismiss the prospects of a serious "stop Goldwater" movement here. The decision to invite Goldwater appeared to fit in with the appraisal.

An assistant to how Gov. James A. Rhodes told a reporter when the Goldwater-Nixon invitation was announced:

"Let's get them all here and let them rub together and see what happens."

Ohio's 58-vote GOP presidential delegation is a key to whether Goldwater's California primary victory will be parlayed into a first or second ballot nomination at the San Francisco convention, opening July 13.

Senate Seeks Cloture Delay For One Day

Sen. Russell Asks Time To Examine Proposal Of GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders agreed Friday to a proposal by several Republicans to delay the vote on cloture for a day to permit limited debate and votes on three amendments to the civil rights bill.

But Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Southern foes of the measure, said he could not agree to unanimous consent for such a move until he had studied it overnight. A single objection would block it.

MANSFIELD AGREES

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana first asked that the issue be settled Friday night. But he finally agreed to let the proposal offered by Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, go over until today.

Mansfield made it clear that if the proposal is blocked he will present his stop-the-filibuster petition today, as originally planned. This would automatically bring the cloture vote at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

If the limited debate and voting on the three amendments are accepted, Mansfield said, he will wait until Monday to present his petition — which would mean a vote on it Wednesday.

The two hours of wrangling over Hickenlooper's move made it clear that the Democratic and Republican leaders backing cloture were agreeable to it in hopes of picking up some votes for cloture. Several Republicans in the doubtful column have been arguing that there should be some votes on amendments before cloture is attempted.

They contend it would be impossible to present their arguments adequately under cloture —which would limit each senator to a total of one hour of talk on all amendments and on passage of the bill itself.

New Duties

The new face around West Monroe city hall is Mrs. Peggy Smith, who's in the office of Judge John McCormick for a couple of weeks learning the ropes.

Mrs. Smith, formerly of Bastrop, will become the judge's secretary June 6, but is familiarizing herself with the office routine before starting date.

Graduating

Miss Mary Joanna Strausser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Strausser of 1600 Riverside Dr., Monroe, will graduate Sunday from Randolph-Macon Woman's College in Lychburg, Va.

Miss Strausser majored in Spanish and spent her junior year in Madrid, Spain. She received the most distinguished freshman award and is a member of the Sock and Buskin drama club.

She plans to participate in Peace Corps summer training for work in Colombia, South America.

Goldwater Near First Ballot Win

Senator Picks Up 32 More Delegates To Hit 470 Total

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater has picked up 32 previously uncommitted delegates since his California victory—enough to give him a first-ballot Republican presidential nomination if his expectations in the coming weeks' selections materialize.

Associated Press surveys of major uncommitted or favorite-son delegations and of the states where delegates are still to be chosen show Goldwater will have more than the 655 votes needed — barring major shifts among the delegates in the next five weeks.

VOTE SHIFTS

Vote shifts recorded Friday boosted the Arizona senator's front-running total in The AP poll of delegates already chosen to 470. And estimates by political leaders and observers in 15 states are that Goldwater could get as many as 200 of the 258 delegates still to be chosen.

He is expected to start gathering some of that support in state conventions in Colorado, Washington, Hawaii and Alabama.

But the senator could run into stubborn opposition in some of the forthcoming conventions. There's no guarantee that all the delegates who now say they would cast first-ballot votes for him will stick with him.

One big boost for Goldwater came in Ohio where a new Associated Press survey shows at least 17 delegates willing to vote for him on the first ballot.

The 58-vote delegation is nominally pledged to Gov. James S. Rhodes as a favorite son, but the pledge is not legally binding.

Ohio State Chairman Ray Bliss is expected to have a lot to say about where the Buckeye State votes go, but so far he has given no public indication of where his sympathies lie. In the absence of a stand by Bliss, at least 17 delegates are expected to vote on the first ballot for Goldwater.

Texas GOP To Select 'Senator'

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Republican voters select a man today to face their No. 1 target in Texas — Democratic Sen. Ralph Yarborough—in the general election.

Both Democrats and Republicans hold their primary runoffs for candidates who failed to obtain a majority in the May 2 first primary.

Democratic interest centers on the U.S. representative-at-large race although two U.S. House district contests also will be held.

The Republicans will choose between George Bush, 39, son of former Sen. Prescott Bush of Connecticut; and Jack Cox, 42, onetime Democrat who left that party for the GOP.

Both are Houston oil industry executives, conservatives, and supporters of Sen. Barry Goldwater's bid for the GOP nomination for president.

With no real issue because of their identical political philosophies, Bush and Cox campaigned largely on the claim of each that he is the man who can beat Yarborough in November.

This is the first statewide runoff ever held by Republicans in Texas and guesses of the turnout vary widely since there is no precedent. Many of the 254 counties will not hold a GOP primary.

A predicted small vote is no indication of Republican ballot strength in general elections. Vast numbers vote in the Democratic primaries but turn independent in November, particularly in presidential election years.

Park's Men Quit To Halt Korean Riots

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — President Chung Hee Park's closest associates resigned Friday in an attempt to check the wrath of students that exploded into three days of rioting.

Chief target of the students' antigovernment demonstrations, Kim Chong Pil, 37, quit as chairman of the ruling Democratic Republican party. Opposition parties applauded the resignation as a step toward restoring peace to South Korea. But some sources doubted the students would be appeased.

SMASHED WINDOWS

Kim's resignation came as 1,000 college students in Pusan, South Korea's second largest city, staged a riotous demonstration. They smashed windows at a police station and the city hall in clashes with riot police in the port 190 miles southeast of Seoul.

Demonstrations were held in two other cities, Kimchon, 100 miles southeast of Seoul, and Chongju, 60 miles southeast of Seoul, by about 2,500 high school boys. There were no reports of clashes with police.

To most students, Kim stood for many of the things they were protesting—ranging from police state methods to making undue haste at talks with Japan on normalizing diplomatic relations.

Following a coup d'etat in 1961 which brought Park and Kim to power, Kim was the founder-director of the Korean Central Intelligence Agency. As head of the secret police agency, Kim had a big hand in the military junta rule.

The agency was connected with a few major scandals that became hot campaign issues in last fall's elections, when Park won the presidency.

VIET NAM SUCCESS

'Scorched Earth' Routs Viet Cong

TAY NINH, South Viet Nam (AP) — Loudspeakers blared strident orders Monday night above Vietnamese villages in a 20-mile-long strip of Communist-infested territory adjoining the Cambodian frontier.

"We are going to clear out this area," warned airborne spokesmen for a jungle-trained task force of Americans and South Vietnamese. "There will be no life left here. Move out!" Friday, that strip of territory — winding along the Vaico Oriental River west of Tay Ninh—is wrecked and barren.

A hazardous scorched earth operation that may set a new pattern in the war against Viet Cong guerrillas ended Thursday night. About 25 guerrillas were killed, but the prime targets of air and ground attacks were shelter, food and transport.

Huts are in ashes. Sampans are sunk. Bullock carts are smashed. Rice stores, poultry and livestock are destroyed or carried off.

About 700 civilians — women, children and old men — have been moved.

SAIGON (UPI)—Government troops scored two major successes against the Communists and captured a Viet Cong ammunition dump in a three-day sweep near the Cambodian border, a U.S. military spokesman reported Friday.

Monroe Youth Dies In Pool At Lafayette

A 13-year-old Monroe youth, Frank Powers Jr., drowned Friday afternoon while swimming in a motel pool in Lafayette. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Powers Sr., of Rt. 4, Monroe.

According to the Lafayette Parish Coroner, the youth had dived to the pool bottom to retrieve a coin and apparently removed the grill from the drain pipe. His hand became stuck and efforts by persons in the pool to pull his hand out were unsuccessful.

Witnesses reported that the pool water pumps were then cut off and Lafayette police tried vainly to unstick the youth's hand. One policeman reported going down "six or seven times."

Divers with aqua-lungs then successfully removed the victim's body, some 45 minutes after he went down.

According to the Lafayette Parish Coroner, Dr. Voorhies, death was due to accidental drowning.

Local Building Soars To New High For Year

May was the City of Monroe's busiest month so far this year, in point of evaluation of new construction authorized by building permits, Inspection Department Manager Dale B. Martha reported Friday. Okayed during the month was new work in the city evaluated at $649,215.

The figure topped April, the year's previous high, by over $96,000. April's total was $553,000.

Among individual permits leading May figures was authorization for a new $175,000 nursing home, followed by a new $117,000 loan office.

Eleven permits were issued for one-family dwellings, totaling $193,500, while additions and alterations to residences totaled $70,515, and non-residential alterations and additions, $37,700.

Permits were issued for a new $45,000 electric shop and a new $10,000 office.

May permits also included authorization to move six buildings within city limits, 16 buildings outside the city, and to demolish 12 buildings.

The month's total of permits was 93; 37 were for residential additions and alterations, seven for non-residential.

Jobless Rates Begin To Fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department reported Friday that unemployment dropped to 5.1 per cent last month, the lowest jobless rate in more than four years.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics also reported that total civilian employment was up to an all-time high of 70.1 million.

Total unemployment in May was 3.6 million, about 300,000 below April, the bureau said. The drop was about 200,000 more than seasonally expected.

All the improvement in unemployment was among people seeking full-time jobs, said bureau spokesman Harold Goldstein.

The unemployment figure of 5.1 per cent of the labor force in May was down from 5.4 per cent for the past few months.

PARTIAL EXPLANATION

Lung Cancer Link Seen In Soot Size

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reduction in the size of soot particles in the atmosphere—due to changes in soft coal use—might partly explain sharp decreases in human stomach cancer and concurrent increases in lung cancer, two researchers theorized Friday.

The Georgetown University Medical School team further speculated that these smaller soot particles tend to concentrate more readily in the lungs than in the stomach—with a resultant greater chance of promoting lung cancer.

Reduced use of soft coal by homes and railroads since the 1930s—and more efficient burning of it in electric power plants —would tend to make the atmosphere's content of soot particles predominantly of the smaller type, they added.

They tied in with their idea these further concepts which they said have support from previous reports by other investigators that:

—Atmospheric pollution in general is on the increase—due largely to wide use of gasoline and diesel fuel and increasing use of cigarettes—and the pollutant particles are of relatively small size.

—These pollutants contain chemicals which can cause skin cancers in experimental animals.

—The pollutants, including cigarette smoke, also contain chemicals which, while not capable of producing any type of cancer in animals, may be capable of impairing the human respiratory system's natural mechanisms for ridding itself of undesirable substances.

20TH ANNIVERSARY

Allies, Friends Join In D-Day Tributes

OMAHA BEACH, France (AP) — Allied governments and military forces joined relatives and friends Friday in 20th anniversary D-Day tributes to the dead of the Normandy campaign.

Gen. Omar Bradley, who commanded the U. S. forces, led the American delegation.

But amid the simplicity and dignity that marked the ceremonies came a jarring note from London, where Britain's Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery asserted that in his opinion Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower never really understood the strategy of the Normandy campaign.

"He seemed to me to get the whole thing muddled up," said Montgomery in a Broadcasting Corp. television program marking the anniversary.

The former U. S. president was supreme Allied commander in the European theater of operations and Montgomery's superior.

Another distinguished American military leader arrives in Normandy today. He is Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who parachuted into Normandy with the 101st Airborne Division on D-Day 1944.

Silas Vance, U. S. deputy secretary of defense, had to cancel at the last moment his scheduled appearance, a U. S. spokesman said. No reason was given.

Hundreds of American, British and Canadian veterans of the invasion roamed over the beaches and hedge-lined fields that they came to know on June 6, 1944, and the following weeks.

Do the recreation managers choose the boys for the Dixie Senior League teams, and, if so, why were the tryouts held?

Team managers select the players in a player draft after they have watched sufficient tryouts to determine talents of young athletes they need to fill vacancies that come each year as veteran players become too old to participate in the program. The question says "recreation managers" and we assume team managers are meant. Monroe recreation department officials, the director and his assistants, do not select players for the teams.

Has Monroe ever been on daylight saving time and, if so, when?

Monroe, like the rest of the country, was on saving time during World War II. Federal Aviation Agency officials at Selman Field said they did not have a record of the exact dates but did remember that during the war years saving time was in effect here.

They also recalled that in years since the war efforts have been made to institute saving time but resistance was such from local residents that it has never been started.

I have kept a few newspapers containing accounts of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. I want to know how they can be preserved until my children are old enough to read the first hand accounts contained in the papers

Newspapers will stay usable for a number of years if they are kept flat and not subjected to day-to-day handling. A laminating process is available but it would be expensive for an entire newspaper so we would suggest placing the papers flat between some sore of cardboard cover to keep it wrinkle-free and to avoid using them any more than is necessary.

Would there be any change in medical payments under the proposed medicare bill for a person not covered by Social Security who is in a nursing home receiving state old age assistance of $165 monthly, plus $13 additional monthly plus medicine paid?

According to our Washington bureau, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said the answer depends on many factors. The person involved evidently receives state payments financed partly through the Kerr-Mills program of federal grants to states for old-age medical assistance.

If the medicare bill passes, he (or she) may be eligible to medical coverage regardless of Social Security benefits. About 2,250,000 people will be eligible under this provision.

If not eligible, he would remain under the present program. It is planned to continue Kerr-Mills for people proposed medicare bill would not reach. Amount of benefits would then depend on the amount of federal money made available out of supplemental funds appropriated by the state. Any increase would be decided by Congress and the state.

Theoretically, more money would be available because some people now assisted by Kerr-Mills would be covered by medicare.

If it not contemplated by anyone that benefits would be reduced.

Much has been said in recent years about the "emerging nations" of Africa. One new nation in Africa is Mauritania. Please tell me where the nation is and a little bit about it.

Mauritania became fully independent of France Nov. 28, 1960. Although remaining outside the French community, Mauratania has expressed a desire to retain close ties with France.

The nation's economy is agricultural and pastoral. Products include dates, grain, tobacco and fish with exports of gum Arabic and salt. Iron and copper have been recently discovered.

VIOLENCE PUNCTUATED

Essex Wire Strike Still Deadlocked

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—What comes next in the 98-day, violence-punctuated Essex Wire Corp. strike at Hillsdale was an unanswered question Friday.

Gov. George W. Romney was told by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley he has authority to step in and shut down the struck plant anew if he desires under a "state of public emergency" he declared in calling out troops "to protect life and property" a week ago.

Asked what he would do under Kelley's interpretation of his powers, Romney told a reporter at Alpena: "I have no statement to make at this time." He declined to elaborate, but quickly canceled a multistop, speech-making upstate flight and returned to Lansing.

Romney's office shortly before released a telegram in which the governor declared "bargaining is continuing and we are ever hopeful" of a settlement on a first contract between the International Union of Electrical Workers — IUE — and the company.

The telegram was to James B. Carey, president of the IUE, with whom Romney agreed to meet here at 11 a.m. today.

It was dispatched shortly before Essex Wire and IUE negotiators met in a second session of renewed bargaining into which the governor pressured them Thursday. That session lasted 10 hours.

Romney called out National Guardsmen and shut the plant down May 28. But, with what he termed restoration of law and order in the Michigan city of 7,629, Romney permitted reopening last Wednesday—six days later.

Chamber Backs Bill To Regulate Electric Co-Ops

Directors of the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce Friday went on record in favor of pending legislation which would empower the Louisiana Public Service Commission to regulate rural electric cooperatives.

Acting on recommendations of the organization's legislative committee, directors in a telephone poll also expressed opposition to three bills pending before the legislature which "would permit (the cooperatives) to operate in part without regulation."

The Chamber - favored bill, House Bill 628, will be heard in Judiciary B Committee in Baton Rouge Monday. A Chamber delegation, to be named, will attend the hearing, according to Manager Eugene Smith.

Meanwhile, copies of the resolution will be mailed today to committee members and to Ouachita Parish lawmakers, Legislative Committee Chairman Hugh Balfour said.

"These cooperatives should be treated as all other public utilities," Balfour said Friday. "They classify themselves as public utilities, so the fair, just and proper thing for them to do would be to accept regulation like other public utilities.'

Text of the resolution said the Chamber 'believes all public utilities including rural electric cooperatives should be subject for all purposes to the jurisdiction, supervision and control of the Louisiana Public Service Commission and that no public utility should be permitted to operate in any area or in any phase of its operation as an unregulated monopoly."

It maintained that House Bills 811, 812 and 813, also pending and sponsored by rural electric cooperatives, would permit operation in part without regulation.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved by the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce that this association go on record as opposing passage of House Bill 811, 812 and 813, favoring instead the adoption of House Bill 628 . . . the object of which is to place electric cooperatives under the jurisdiction of the Louisiana Public Serivce Commission for all purposes," the resolution concluded.

How to buy an electric shaver

(Perfect gift for Father's Day and Graduation)

1. Have an uncomfortable shave for the last time. No man should put up with a shave that is irritating or unpleasant day after day. Shaving should be convenient and comfortable. And today it is—with the comfort shave.

2. Talk to your dealer about electric shavers. He'll show you several brands. Most of them have blades which go back and forth. Only Norelco Speedshavers have rotary blades which go round and round.

3. Look at both kinds. Back and forth blades stop and change direction constantly. Norelco rotary blades whirl continuously in one direction. They stroke off whiskers without pinch or pull.

4. Ask about speed and closeness. Today's electric shavers all shave fast and with about equal closeness. The important difference is in the comfort they give. It's the difference between enjoying a shave or enduring it.

5. Ask about comfort. Only Norelco rotary blades give you the comfort shave. Norelco rotary blade action is so smooth, the face actually feels soothed. It's the most comfortable way to shave close and clean.

THIS LOW-ANGLE SHOT was made possible when photographer William Kiehl of Russellville, Arkansas, stretched out on the ground at the side of the motorcycle track. Action was stopped at f/11, 1/1000 second. The photo received an Honor Award in the 1963 Newspaper National Snapshot Awards. The 1964 local contest starts June 15.

Tips For Winning Cash Prizes Given

A good tip for amateur photographers shooting for cash prizes in the 1964 Newspaper National Snapshot Awards, sponsored locally by The Morning World and News-Star is to try your luck in the Teen-ager and Adult Activities Classification of the contest.

This is the class that traditionally draws the fewest entries. Why? Not because it's more difficult. Not because the prizes are less attractive than the other classes.

The answer is that many teenagers and adults don't associate their own work, activities and diversions with prize - winning snapshots. Actually, the range in this category is as broad and far-reaching as human nature itself. You can picture teen-agers or adults engaged in a hobby, sport, vocation, play, study, household chores, or any number of other activities. The picture might show a neighbor sipping a cup of coffee, grandpa reclined in his favorite armchair, a teen-ager struggling with homework, a welder applying the torch to a piece of metal, or a busy executive tackling mounds of paper work.

These photos are action pictures, or mood pictures, or character studies. . .the possibilities are endless.

Outdoors, the snapshooter should be ever observant. . .for the policeman at a busy intersection, the news vendor hawking the afternoon newspaper, the construction worker perched high over the street on a steel beam, or the hotel doorman helping a passenger from a taxi.

The Monroe Newspaper National Snapshot Awards offers a weekly local prize for the best photo entered in the Teen-ager and Adult Activities Class. At the close of the contest, the best photo in this class will receive a local grand prize. The winning photo then will be submitted for final judging, with a chance of winning $1,000.

When taking contest pictures of people, be sure you get the names and addresses of the subjects. Signed releases will be re-entry should win one of the World and News-Star Newspaper National Snapshow Awards.

Look around you. . .at work, at play, in the home, or just walking in the street. There are countless picture possibilities. And remember, the picture you snap could earn you a big cash prize.

The contest starts the week of June 15. The judging will be held on Thursday of each week, with the winners being announced each Sunday in the Monroe Morning World. In addition to the Teen-age and Adult Activities classification, there are three others. They are Babies and Children, Scenses and Tabletops and Animal Life.

The local weekly winners will be selected by a panel of prominent local judges. At the close of the local contest the week of August 3, four grand prize winners will be selected and their winning pictures will be sent to the National Contest.

Remember three weekly prizes will be given in each category. There will be $5 for first place winners, $3 for second place winners, and $2 for those placing third in each classification.

Perez Joins Critics To Amend Ethics Code Bill

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Leander H. Perez, fiery states rights warrior, joined a vanguard of critics Friday preparing amendments aimed at Gov. John McKeithen's 33-page code of ethics bill in the legislature.

The Plaquemines Parish political czar said the administration proposal in its present form contained unwise combinations of judicial, legislative and executive powers.

A Senate Judiciary C hearing has been called on the administration bill Tuesday. A similar bill in the House will mark time pending Senate action.

Prime purpose of the code is to strengthen public confidence in government integrity, prevent use of public office for private gain and provide a guide for conduct of state employes and elected officials.

The legislature will return Monday when the House convenes at 10 a.m. The Senate itself will meet at 5 p.m.

While Perez, in a brief interview, did not go into details about amendments being drafted under his direction, he branded what he called a combination of powers "counter to the fundamentals of our American form of government."

Apparently one provision Perez was aiming at would authorize the nine-member Louisiana Commission on Government Ethics — created to administer the code for state employes—to order dismissal of employes found in violations of the code.

He suggested it would be better for the governor to do the firing in such circumstances.

A separate Louisiana Board of Ethics for elected state officials is proposed in the code, composed of three retired or former judges, one appointed by the governor, one by the Senate, one by the House. It could conduct investigations and hear citizen complaints.

As the time for a first legislative decision approached, some administration leaders simply declined comment on outcome. But they freely concede they fear a heavy salvo of amendments.

There are two bills, one a constitutional proposal requiring a two-thirds majority vote and outlining principles involved, the other a simple bill which spells out details in its 33 pages.

In the House, Reps. Nick Cefalu and Gordon Causey, Tangipahoa Parish, said they would offer an amendment wrapping in all local elected officials, police jurors, mayors, councilmen, sheriffs, etc.

An administration leader said he had heard several lawmakers talk about other changes to be sought which would provide penalties for anyone making false charges against state officials or employes under the code.

In the legislature, amendments usually are a device smoothing out rough-drawn legislation to make it more acceptable.

But in the battle-to-the-finish struggles that sometime develop over controversial legislation, a favorite tactic of lawmakers hostile to a bill is to hit it with crippling amendments.

It happened to the original code of ethics passed by the 1962 Senate, during former Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' administration. The bill died in the House, weighted down with amendments. The Davis regime was against a code.

Defined Party Lines

As a rule of thumb, European voters are apt to consider party above candidate in elections, indeed, in most cases the votes are cast for the party which in turn appoints those who actually hold the offices at the lower levels of government.

But now any number of European newspapers have come out against the primary victory of Senator Barry Goldwater in California, and they are taking pot shots at the man — not the Republican Party. So in a case where it is really none of their business, they are taking a position in a matter which is really alien to European politics in order to fire a few volleys at an American office seeker.

In 1960, when the people in this country voted for the late President Kennedy or for former Vice President Nixon, many decided by their liking for the one candidate or the other.

But by virtue of such things as party platforms and traditions, the voters also chose between two groups of men and between political philosophies built on real, though at times rather ill-defined, differences.

The late President was an independent-minded man, or, more certainly perhaps, a member of an independent-minded family. Yet he was not in the same manner separated from those who were closely associated with him nor was he free of the influence from those who helped him into his office. So in this sense, U.S. citizens also voted for a party and will continue to do so.

On the other hand, there were many within the Democratic Party, particularly in the South, who thought little enough of the platform and those supporting it to bolt the national organization in 1948 or to vote Republican in 1952, 1956 and in 1960.

Each of the major parties in the United States covers a wide range in thinking. Senator Jacob Javits of New York revealed this in a rather ironic fashion as election returns were coming in from California on Tuesday night of this week.

With the score running close, it seems Senator Goldwater was holding a slight edge at the time, Javits told a broadcast interviewer that it appeared to him Senator Goldwater would realize now that he must alter his conservative position and get in line with the more moderate Republicans.

So far as we know, the New York senator did not reverse himself and call for any move toward party unity behind Goldwater after all the votes were in.

Even so, we cannot rule out the existence of a two-party system in the United States for all the fuzzy edges of distinction and the absence of sharp cleavages.

The Democratic Party is in its national character more receptive to the growth of centralized government, less disturbed by high deficit financing, and realizes the attraction to many voters of large welfare programs. The Republican Party is more trusting of the people, states and local communities to manage their own affairs. It is also prone to be more suspicious of communism and any move that would sanctify internationalist concepts.

Thus differences in the two political parties are still meaningful, even though Senator Javits really sounds more like a Democrat most of the time and Senator Byrd a conservative Republican, particularly in matters of finance.

As the nominations and campaigns loom on the horizon, most persons are inclined to pay more attention to the personalities involved rather than to the positions of the respective parties. Certainly we don't want a radical individual to occupy the White House, regardless of his party connection.

But it's equally true that only a thoughtless voter can see his choice as completely dominating his party. The U.S. political parties might not be as well defined as those in the western European countries. But they do exist in principle and in practice.

New Treaty With Reds

A treaty — or even an agreement signed by two individuals — implies that the parties involved have a basis of ethics which would make the treaty or contract binding. For this reason, we cannot join with those who have hailed the U.S.-Soviet consular agreement as something that will improve relations between the world's two greatest powers.

What is the basis of any agreement? First there has to be an understanding on the part of the signers that the terms are just. Secondly there must be the mutual feeling which will enable the parties involved to live up to the treaty's terms as they are knocked about over the years.

This simply cannot be the case with any statement or treaty signed by Soviet Russia and any nation which has come into being under the influence of Western Civilization. As a nation "under God," any free nation recognizes a Supreme Authority over and above the state as governed by men.

Regardless of Premier Khrushchev's references to the Bible, God and the devil in a recent address in Poland, his concept of morality is not so oriented. He has subscribed to the idea that the government is the final authority in every sense.

Thus any development down the line where a treaty would cause his system or state to suffer a disadvantage would be a violation to his way of thinking. On the other hand, he or any subsequent Soviet Premier would not hesitate to call down a co-signer for similar conduct on the basis of our type morality or fairness.

With this in mind, how can any sensible American look upon the consular agreement, the nuclear test ban treaty or even the terms of our recognition of Soviet Russia dating from 1933 as any more than treachery? A double standard of interpretation is involved from the outset.

Now the recent treaty regarding consulates can be viewed in a more realistic light. It paves the way for the establishing of Soviet consulates in a number of American cities and U.S. consulates over the Soviet Union.

Presumably, this would assure prompt access by U.S. consular officials in Russia to any U.S. citizen arrested or detained in the Soviet Union and reciprocal rights for Russian officials and nationals so held in the United States.

The pact reportedly emerged from negotiations that began last September 27. With less fanfare but under similar circumstances, it was signed in Moscow by U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler and Russian Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Gromyko said the treaty proves that in spite of inevitable difficulties, the two governments, the United States and the U.S.S.R., can reach understanding on numerous points.

Then he said something that underscores the entire Russian position of the state as the supreme authority: "This tendency could be more evident if the two governments started new efforts for settlement of other more important problems."

In other words, the consular treaty, disarmament negotiations, wheat sales, or any other significant matters — as we see them — do not account for the "more important problems" as the Russian official sees them.

Apparently, the Soviet government would like to see us abandon our principles based on a morality higher than that of the state. At the same time, the Russians would want that to happen only after they had worked their double-standard interpretation of any treaties signed with her to the fullest.

ROBERT ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

Russian 'Refugees' Helped By U.S. State Department

The State Department is secretly engaged in one of the most astounding "refugee relocation" operations on record.

Involved in this extraordinary affair are thousands of Russians whom Red China mysteriously is permitting to "flee" from their long-time settlements in the Harbin area in northeastern Manchuria.

Already more than 10,000 have reached Hong Kong, several thousand miles from Harbin, and other "refugees" are arriving at the rate of several hundred a month.

AIM OF the State Department is to resettle these unscreened Russians, who have lived for years under Communist Chinese rule, in various countries, among them Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Latin America and the U.S. — if congressional authorization can be wangled.

Anticipated cost of this huge and so-far-carefully-unannounced operation is $25 million — to be borne entirely by the U.S.

Various agencies are being tapped for these funds, including foreign aid.

All this is being done with the full knowledge and approval of President Johnson. The necessary backstage directives have been handled by Secretary Dean Rusk.

In immediate charge is Abba Schwartz, controversial head of the Bureau of Consular & Security Affairs, who has been in Hong Kong for several weeks setting up the resettlement machinery.

In this unpublicized project, Schwartz is encountering two embarrassing difficulties:

ONE IS the sinister record of several thousand of these Russian "refugees" resettled in 1960, with U.S. assistance, in Brazil, Ecuador, Colombia and Mexico. In all of these countries, a number have been expelled or jailed on grounds of espionage, violence and joining local Communists in attempts to overthrow the government.

The other problem is the vehement opposition of U.S. and British authorities in Hong Kong, who are bombarding Washington and London with blunt warnings against the operation.

EDWARD E. Rice, U.S. consul general in Hong Kong, has been particularly outspoken in his protests.

In numerous cables, carefully stamped "Top Secret" by the State Department, Rice has sought to ascertain who initiated this explosive "refugee" resettlement program without consulting him and other on-the-ground officials. So far, Rice has gotten no answers to his pointed questions.

He and equally critical British authorities first got wind of this extraordinary operation when Hong Kong bankers informed them of the deposit of $25 million to finance it.

U.S. and British intelligence officials are expecially alarmed because of their virtual certainty that numerous Red agents are among the "refugees"

The record of what happened in Brazil and the other Latin American countries is cited as irrefutable evidence of this. It is being pointed out that the resettlement plans call for no effective screening of these thousands of Russians who for years have lived under direct Communist rule and propagandizing.

Two congressional committees have been apprised of this astounding affair and are preparing to investigate.

A House Judiciary subcommittee, headed by Representative Michael Feighan D-O., is digging into it preliminary to summoning top State Department officials for thorough grilling.

SIMILARLY, Representative Otto Passman, D-La., chairman of the House Appropriational committee in charge of foreign aid and a long time vigorous foe of large-scale spending for this purpose, plans to conduct a sharp airing. Like Feighan, Passman wants to know who instigated this operation and why; also why foreign aid funds are being used for it.

PASSMAN WILL bear down heavily on that because of Defense Secretary McNamara's loudly proclaimed contention that foreign aid funds are insufficient to vigorously prosecute the faltering anti-communist conflict in South Viet Nam.

"On one hand we are told by Secretary McNamara that Congress is to blame for not voting enough foreign aid funds," declared Passman. "But at the same time, foreign aid money is being used for a purpose never authorized by Congress. This 'refugees' project is entirely outside the realm of foreign aid spending, and we want to get at the bottom of it."

Representative Feighan, who is opening hearings shortly on the administration's bill to extensively revise the immigration laws, intends to interrogate Schwartz and Richard Brown, State Department emergency relocation officer who is playing a leading role in the Russian "refugee" operation.

Secretary Rusk and CIA Director John McCone also are slated for questioning.

In Representative Passman's probe, he will dig into backstage reports that when the Senate considers the foreign aid bill an effort will be made to tack the administration's immigration measure onto it.

ACCORDING TO these accounts, President Johnson reputedly told Democratic congressional leaders that he wants the immigration bill, which would end the long-existing quota system, enacted before the convening of the Republican national convention around the middle of July.

Both Passman and Feighan have received this information, and they want to know what there is to it.

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN

Senior Citizens By Other Names

Not too long ago I voiced a pet peeve: the common use of "senior citizens" to describe people 65 or over. I thought it smacked of insincerity and deadly euphemism. People who prefer this designation are the ones who say "he passed away" instead of "he died," etc. They run away from reality.

Well, as you might expect, I have received many letters of varying opinions. You may recall that I made the following suggestions in the original column: call those up to 40 (or 39, if you prefer) youngsters; those between 40 and 65 midsters, and those over 65, oldsters.

HERE ARE two interesting reactions from readers:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: The only permanent thing we have in this world is change. Regardless of your suggestion I intend to still refer to myself as senior citizen unless a better name comes along. And I don't think it's oldster! I am surprised that you would use such a harsh word.

By the way, I do not use the designation "senior citizen" as an anaesthetic. When you become a senior citizen I hope folks call you an oldster. I wonder how you'll like it. —Mrs. B.

Comment: Just so I'm around at the time. Call me oldster and see if I care. But don't dare call me "senior citizen!"

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Hurray for you! Only please add "golden years" to the anathema list, also.

As a midster (to use your very apt expression), verging closely on becoming an oldster, I fairly gag at the sentimental twaddle in the press, and elsewhere, on this age business. Age has no terrors for me, and by the same token, I expect no special consideration or coddling. All I want is to go on being myself. So please continue your crusade. —Mrs. C.

Comment: No crusade. Just getting something off my chest. I'd have to keep writing about it in the column every day to make any headway against the firm jell of public opinion that there's something just bully about the term "senior citizen." You'll agree, there are more important things to duscuss.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My doctor says I have bursitis in my right shoulder and that there is little to do for it except apply wet, hot towels. But they don't help and I've been suffering agonies and can't sleep at night. What do you suggest? — Mrs. J.

Comment: I suggest a consultation. Often much can be done. Cortisone injections, X-ray treatments, ultrasound therapy and other ways of conteracting the trouble should be tried. If you don't treat it you're likely to get a stiff (frozen) shoulder.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My 10-year-old daughter has had tonsillitis three times a year for the past three years. One doctor suggested she take medicine. Another said that she'd be better off with her tonsils out. What do you think? — Mrs. M.

Comment: I can't give you specific advice, but in a general way, I say that one of the certain indications for tonsillectomy is a history of frequent sore throats and infections in the tonsils.

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet, "Practical Information for Shingles Patients," will be mailed to you on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 15 cents in coin for handling. Address your request to Dr. Steincrohn, in care of this newspaper.

Goldwater Claims Win 'Impersonal'

Senator Goldwater, with characteristic modesty, insisted on Tuesday night that the victory was not personal, rather that it was a victory for the "mainstream of the Republican Party." It is of course impossible to say whether the victory could have been achieved by another Republican — clearly Goldwater's personality figured greatly in his favor. But Goldwater was correct in insisting that there is a meaning to the vote in California that transcends his personality. And sure enough many commentators are already reading the result in California as suggesting nothing much more than a preference for Goldwater, "the kindly Westerner and the family man," over Rockefeller, "the slick Easterner and wife-snatcher."

THAT ANALYSIS would appear to break down, in the light of the success with which the political realities had been communicated to the voters of California. They knew that if they desired to see the Party nominate anyone at all other than Goldwater-Lodge, Nixon, Scranton, Romney — they should vote for Rockefeller. Goldwater did more, then, than beat Rockefeller. He beat the field. He did so, moreover, after absorbing the fiercest punishment meted out upon any American political figure since Joe McCarthy. All the pollsters, who had buried Goldwater before he was quite dead, conceded there was a groundswell in favor of him. Goldwater has caught his second wind. If he were to run again tomorrow in New Hampshire, there are reasons to suppose that he would win there, too. He is off, and running.

Senator Goldwater's showing is of considerable consequence, on precisely the point, Where indeed is the mainstream of contemporary Republicanism? The rhetoric of the past six months, issued from the camp of Governor Rockefeller and his supporters, has hammered on the theme of modern progressive Republicanism, defined as excluding Goldwater and his supporters.

THEY ARE a thing called "ultra-conservative", whereas Rockefeller — Javits — Case are "moderates" (the terminology in question does not appear to acknowledge the existence of any ultraism on the Republican left — merely on the right). And it was given to California to decide which in fact is the line the Republican Party should take.

California split down the middle — made, one might put it (surrendering completely to the fashionable terminology) a moderate decision on which is the moderate course for the future of the Party. Goldwater's lead, of course, is crucial in a winner-take-all system. He would now appear to have the nomination in the bag. And the very fact that he has it will force calmer attention to his position than has been given it by those hysteria-ridden folk who have spoken as though to open their eyes and look at, rather than merely to curse, Senator Goldwater's dream for a better world, is to risk being turned into stone.

THE REFUSAL of Californians to repudiate Goldwater, which they had been invited to do by everybody from U Thant on down, or if you prefer up, suggests moreover, a vital act of sectional emancipation of enormous and enduring cultural significance. New York, after a bitter contest, appears to have yielded its pre-eminence. The victory may prove to be pyrrhic, but that often is the case, if only for the time being. The condition of the Negroes, after their formal manumission one hundred years ago, deteriorated in the period immediately ensuing. And Goldwater's victory, which will almost surely result in a sullen, if not mutinous resentment by the Eastern forces of which Rockefeller was the spokesman, may very well appear empty in November. But its significance transcends the expected defeat of the Republican ticket in the fall by however great the majority. To begin with, Lyndon Johnson will move right, just as he would have moved left if Rockefeller had been nominated by the Republicans. And secondly, the traces to the East having been broken, the Republican Party will never again be dominated by the editorial writers for the New York Herald-Tribune. Free at last.

BASCOM TIMMONS

California Prize Bag Of Delegates

The reason that Goldwater and Rockefeller forces were so anxious to carry California is that it is for convention purposes the best state of all. It is a valuable bag of 86 delegates who are tied to the winner more strongly and for a longer time than any other. Other delegations may fragment but in California they stick together because the law makes them do so. Now Goldwater expects the 86 from California and the 56 from Texas to be his bellewether delegations. There will be a relationship between the two States which also existed in the Democratic Convention in 1932. John Nance Garner had defeated Franklin D. Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith in the California primaries and also held the Texas delegation. The two States had exactly the number of delegates Roosevelt needed for a convention majority and when Garner threw them to FDR it meant the nomination. Had Rockefeller won the California victory which it once looked as if he had but saw slip away from him he would have had the most of the New York delegation, plus California.

THERE ARE just 124 days difference in the ages of the two men expected to be the opposing Presidential candidates this year. President Lyndon B. Johnson will be 56 years old on August 27 (which is during the Democratic National Convention and will be duly celebrated), and Senator Barry Goldwater will be 56 on January 1, 1965. Should Johnson and Goldwater become the party nominees it would mark the first time the major parties have gone to the Southwest for their Presidential candidates.

Assuming a Goldwater for President nomination at the Republican National Convention in San Francisco as most politicians in both major parties do, G. O. P. leaders lean strongly to Governor William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania as the Goldwater ticket mate. Fact that Scranton won the Pennsylvania Governorship in 1962 by 486,291 majority after it had been held by Democrats for eight years is big talking point for the 47-year-old Scranton. Like Goldwater, Scranton was in the Air Force in World War II. If it is not Scranton on a Goldwater ticket next choice of most Republicans is probably Senator Thruston Morton of Kentucky, who served 51 months in the Navy in World War II.

SENATOR JOHN Tower, first Republican Senator from Texas since Reconstruction era and Governor Mark Hatfield of Oregon, who have been widely discussed as the possible Republican nominees no longer are being talked about in that connection. Hatfield's chances rode on the always pale chances that Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York would win the Presidential nomination and Tower's chances hinged on the possibility that Governor William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania would be the compromise Republican nominee at San Francisco.

The man whom former President Dwight D. Eisenhower regards as highly qualified to be President, — his brother, Milton — is 65-years-old. One President, William Henry Harrison — was 68 when inaugurated and another James Buchanan, was 65. Henry Cabot Lodge, 62, undoubtedly will be placed in nomination for President at the Republican National Convention, but his chances for being his party's 1964 standard-bearer, never bright, seem to have evaporated. Milton Eisenhower will not be placed in formal nomination, but may receive some scattered votes.

BOTH REPUBLICANS and Democrats in National Committee headquarters in Washington were saying that the race for United States Senator in the Sooner State is close at this stage. Republicans still believe they will elect their nominee, Bud Wilkinson, but they admit that State Senator Fred Harris who won the Democratic nomination over incumbent Senator J. Howard Edmondson will be tougher to beat than Edmondson would have.

ARGUMENTS against Richard M. Nixon as a second try candidate for President have been that those who lose the first time always do worse later. This is not actually true and varies according to whether popular electoral votes are considered. William Jennings Bryan who got three trys fell off only slightly in both popuar and electoral votes the second time. The third time he stayed rather close to his position in electorial and popular votes in the previous tries. Thomas E. Dewey fell off only a few thousand popular votes in his second try but upped his 99 electoral votes against Roosevelt to 189 against Truman.

Negro Knifes White Riding On Subway

NEW YORK (UPI)—A Negro with a knife attacked a white subway rider early Friday and in an earlier incident a young Negro tried to gun down two white policemen and was shot and killed.

Late Thursday night, a man standing in a grocery waiting to pay for two bottles of milk was shot and killed by four men driving slowly past in a white car in an apparent senseless slaying.

These were the latest incidents of violence as the nation's largest city put into effect emergency police measures in an all-out drive against roving Negro gangs and other hoodlums stalking the streets and subways in some areas at night.

Henry Feist, 64, a cab driver, boarded the subway about 2 a.m. en route to his home in Coney Island. As he entered the next to last car, he had to step around a Negro who was lying on the floor.

He sat down, took out a paper, and the Negro, police said, began cursing him for no apparent reason.

Witnesses said Feist tried to ignore him but finally said: "Why don't you leave me alone and mind your own business?"

Without warning, the Negro, later identified as Howard Newman, 43, jumped up and drove a knife through the cabbie's cheek. When Feist tried to fight back, he was cut on the forehead and stabbed in the left shoulder.

"All the Jews should be killed, and I'm going to kill all of them myself," Newman was quoted as saying.

The motorman on the subway sounded an emergency signal with the train's whistle and transit authority police were on the platform of the next stop waiting for the train. Newman was overpowered.

"I don't know why I did it," Newman told police. "I just felt like it."

Feist was in fair condition. It took 22 stitches to close up his cuts and wounds.

In Queens, policemen Robert Murphy and Robert Leonard settled a domestic dispute and were about to return to the station house when a Negro youth stepped up and asked for a cigarette. A companion lurked in the shadows. The policemen ignored him and kept walking toward their car.

Suddenly the youth appeared at the side of the car with a .38-caliber revolver and without warning fired two shots. They went wild. He ran and the two policemen chased him to a nearby school yard.

He turned and fired once again and the policemen fired back killing him. He was identified as James Robinson, 21. His companion, William Carr, 17, was arrested. Police said he had been carrying the revolver and gave it to Robinson.

Police do not know whether the slaying of Willie Flores, a Puerto Rican, in the grocery was a case of mistaken identity or whether it was just another senseless shooting.

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Former President Hernan Siles was formally ousted Friday from the ruling Revolutionary party.

'Ike Muddled' D-Day Invasion, Britisher Says

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery said Friday night in a D-Day anniversary program that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower "never understood the Normandy strategy at all. He got the whole thing muddled up."

Montgomery's remarks were made on a 20th anniversary television program put on by the British Broadcasting Corp.

His superior commander on D-Day, Eisenhower, was scheduled to appear in a second BBC program Friday night.

Montgomery's attack on his wartime superior and former U.S. president startled his listeners. Many telephoned the BBC to check whether they had heard him right.

After Montgomery spoke, some military experts from London newspapers expressed regret that the field marshal had brought in such personal remarks, 20 years after, on a program that was dedicated to demonstrating the teamwork that went into D-Day's success.

Gov. Rockefeller Stays With Race For Nomination

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is in the race to stay for the Republican presidential nomination, his office said Friday.

The comment followed a report that Rockefeller sent word to party leaders in major uncommitted states that someone else must take the initiative now if Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater is to be stopped.

Rockefeller had no comment on the report that, because of his defeat by Goldwater in the California primary, he no longer could be responsible for leading the "moderate" campaign against the conservative Arizonan.

The report, in the New York Times, said George L. Hinman, New York Republican national committeeman and the governor's political chief of staff, had been assigned to pass the word to GOP leaders in larger states outside the Goldwater perimeter that it is time someone else "picked up the torch."

Rockefeller's office, asked for comment on the report, did not give any for hours. Later, the office announced that the governor was "standing precisely where he was at his news conference June 3"—the day after the California primary.

Rockefeller said he was not dropping out of the race and that he would continue to fight for "fundamental principles on which the Republican party was founded."

Rockefeller's office said Hinman has not made any calls to anyone.

"Mr. Hinman," the Times said, "is reported to be speeding the Rockefeller message to Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Wisconsin among other states.

Zealanders Hit Tin Can Island

SUVA, Fiji (AP)—Tin Can Island, an isolated speck in the South Pacific on the edge of the Tonga group, was bombed Friday with influenza serum.

All 300 residents are down with the flu. The South Pacific Commission asked the New Zealand air force to help.

Later, via Tonga, came a radio message to the air force: "Congratulations, landed on doormat of house of island chief."

The island's official name is Niuofoou. But it's known as Tin Can because mail for it is dropped into the sea in canisters.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore Van Dellen

LIPSTICK DERMATITIS

How often does lipstick irritate the lips? Not often, considering the vast number of women using this cosmetic several times daily. Five years ago a survey was conducted among several thousand American dermatologists and allergists.

Almost 90 per cent of the women with dermatitis and inflammation of the lips applied lipstick regularly. But tests showed that lipstick was responsible in only 14.4 per cent. Hair dyes were the culprits in 23.3 per cent.

The typical manifestations of contact dermatitis are dryness, cracking, scaling, and swelling. Less common are blistering, peeling, and weeping. The causative ingredient in lipstick usually is eosin, a chemical that makes the cosmetic more indelible. Hypoallergenic lipsticks do not contain this product. Fluorescein dyes and other constituents are less likely causes. Lipstick dermatitis is determined by doing patch tests on the skin with the victim's own lipstick.

The first rule of treatment is to stop the cosmetic and apply a cream or salve containing hydrocortisone. Complete recovery may take a few weeks because eosin remains in the cracks of the lips for some time. A hypoallergenic lipstick is used thereafter.

The lips are exposed to many types of injury and irritation such as lip biting, exposure to sunlight, and contact with dentifrices, perfumes, drugs, and food. Chronic inflammation heals slowly, especially when scales and fissues are present. Healing is delayed by pulling or biting off shreds of tissue and moistening the lips with the tongue many times daily.

The lips also are a favorite spot for fever blisters (herpes simplex). They blossom out during fever, prior to menstruation, and following exposure to the sun. Chronic fatigue, undue tension, and allergy to certain foods may play a role.

TRACES OF ALBUMIN

G. H. L. writes: My 21-year-old son went to an insurance doctor, who said he had albumin in the urine. When the boy returned in two weeks for another urinalysis, there was no albumin. Could the doctor have made a mistake the first time?

REPLY

Yes, but it is unlikely. Traces of albumin often are found after exertion. In addition, some persons have albumin in the first morning specimen but not after they have been up and about for a while. Send stamped, self - addressed envelope for leaflet on albuminuria.

EAR LOBE CYSTS

W. B. writes: My husband keeps on getting cysts in his right ear lobe. Is there any way to prevent these nuisances?

REPLY

Not to my knowledge, except to keep the ear clean and avoid squeezing the cysts.

GENETIC ASPECT OF EPILEPSY

Mrs. W. writes: Is it safe for an epileptic to have children?

REPLY

Yes. The condition is hereditary and there is a chance that the son or daughter also will develop the condition.

OATMEAL OVERDOSE

W. A. V. writes: Does eating too much oatmeal affect the heart?

REPLY

No. But it might affect the waistline, especially when served with sugar aad cream.

ANEMIA AND ARTHRITIS

D. W. writes: Are iron tablets good for arthritis?

REPLY

Yes, provided an iron deficiency coexists, which often happens in rheumatoid arthritis.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

BROADWAY GRAPEVINE . . . Shirley MacLaine's "What a Way to Go!" is off and running after only three weeks to become the nation's new No. 1 box office champ, which will confound a few of the more acerbic film critics. And it is only in six cities so far . . . The Lyceum Theatre now has a detective posted at the foot of the fire escape leading to the dressing rooms of the cast of "Nobody Loves An Albatross." Five minutes before curtain the other night, actress Marian Winters spotted a man entering her open window from the fire escape, and screamed her head off until help came. Several stalwart males in the play tried to capture the intruder, but he escaped.

Have a puzzling casting note. Ballerina Ludmilla Tcherina is set to star in a movie based on the life of Eva Peron, to be filmed in South America and Hollywood. Should be funny, anway . . .John Payne's daughter Julie flew in to New York to see her dad, and they celebrated their reunion at Billy Reed's Little Club. Julie's marriage to actor Jim Ward may be postponed for quite some time. . .Laurel Hurley, lyric soprano of the Metropolitan Opera, has auditioned for a principal part in the Robert Preston musical, "Ben Franklin In Paris". . The program for "The Knack," which just opened, contains an ad for "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf," which just closed.

Jani Frankel, one of the new girls in the line at the Copa, is the daughter of a Wall Street broker, and her family isn't too pleased that she decided on a career as a chorine. . ."Zulu" has become the new darling of Hollywood's Bel Air circuit. The producers keep calling Joe Levine requesting prints to show in their sumptuous private screening rooms. . .Jack Carter will headline at the Canadian National Exposition — Canada's biggest fair date — on Aug. 21. That will follow the wind-up of his summer stock tour in "Little Me."

Jean Seberg, who now lives in Paris and speaks French fluently, will be her own voice-dubber when "Lilith" is prepared for the French movie market. . . New York bars and grills had their best weekday night since New Year's Eve right after the Mets' startling 19-1 victory over Chicago. It brought on all kinds of happy toasting by fans all over town. . .Vaughn Meader and his manager, Buddy Allen, have hired a camera crew and are spending two days a week at the World's Fair, getting miles of celluloid — mostly candid views of visitors. They plan a 15-minute short, in color, with Vaughn narrating. Gore Vidal will be approached to write the script.

Ed Pauly Jr. and Joan Cohn have become a California twosome since Laurence Harvey went to England. . .The Kids from Spain, whose nine-month engagement at the Chateau Madrid has broken records, will give a Town Hall concert.

Elaine Barrie Barrymore, is in New York from Mexico to ballyhoo her autobiography, "My Sins Remembered," and the big news is that she now has platinum hair. When she was making headlines as Mrs. John Barrymore she was a brunet. . .One of America's greatest designers of women's clothes is gravely ill, and the whole fashion industry is grieving.

Xavier Cugat has signed Fran Jeffries (Dick Haymes' ex-wife, and quite a beauty) to replace Abbe Lane with his band. They have a lucrative schedule ahead; combined with lesser acts, they'll play bullfight arenas in Madrid and Barcelona, move on to sports arenas in Rome, and then go to Lisbon where they'll film 13 TV specials for international distribution. Cugie says it adds up to half a million dollars worth of bookings, the biggest money he ever made in Europe. . .Marie Mac Donald and Donald Taylor are celebrating their reconciliation with a fishing trip to the Florida Keys. Let's hope the barracudas don't swallow any of Marie's diamonds.

Pilot Tells Of Airplane's Instruments

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A Paradise Airlines pilot testified that a compass and two altimeters were not functioning properly when he flew a Constellation to Reno the day before the March 1 crash near Lake Tahoe which killed 85 persons.

Capt. Carl Browning told the Civil Aeronautics Board hearing Thursday that he reported the malfunctioning to Capt. Henry Norris, who was to fly the four-engine propeller plane back to Oakland.

Norris, who died in the crash next day, said he would "take care of it," Browning testified.

The inquiry then went into what was done about the three instruments.

An aircraft instrument mechanic, Lawrence Scates of Airlines Instrument Repair Corp., told the four-man CAB panel that the two altimeters were brought to him by "somebody from Paradise."

Scates said he found one altimeter was "sticking" and the other was "off 100 feet or so." He said he fixed both "better than some that were overhauled" and, on his own initiative, put an inspector's stamp on them.

Scates said the altimeters were not checked by an inspector, "as Paradise was in a hurry to get them back."

David Willet, radio mechanic for Hangar Four Corp., said he installed the repaired altimeters and put a tag with a supervisor's stamp of approval on them. Willet testified he was not a supervisor and that, in effect, he approved the altimeters, although he was not authorized to do so.

Donald H. Rose, a radio inspector, said he took over from Willet.

"Mr. Willet told me he had installed the altimeters and I saw later that some items had not been stamped," Rose said, adding that he found the altimeters "in place and secure" and stamped the untagged items.

Concerning the compass, Rose testified it was his "first encounter with this type of system" and he never had seen a manual on it, but he "checked it out manually."

Air Force Plans Cut-Back Of Jobs In Forty States

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force Friday announced a sharp elimination of part-time jobs held by 8,500 civilian reservists in 40 states.

This reduces from 282 to 151 the number of reserve recovery units organized in 1961 to give aid to military planes at civilian reservists in 40 states.

This reduces from 282 to 151 the number of reserve recovery units organized in 1961 to give aid to military planes at civilian airports in time of emergency.

The Air Force said a review of the program indicated there was "no foreseeable future military need" for the 40 groups and 91 squadrons being discontinued. Eighty-two groups and 200 squadrons were organized.

Members of these units have been drawing the equivalent of 14 days' pay per year, amounts varying according to rank. The Air Force said the deactivations will be accomplished between June 30 and Aug. 31.

The units were designed primarily for service when the country might be under attack, and when planes from bases which had been destroyed or aircraft damaged by enemy action would need servicing or repairs at civilian fields.

weather with the temperature in the 80s. That means a fast racing strip.

Only eight horses have won the three classics comprising the Triple Crown but it is 4-5 that E. P. Taylor's little package of dynamite will be No. 9, under the masterly guidance of Bill Hartack. Citation, in 1948, was the last to do it.

The dazzling Dancer, who weighs less than 1,000 pounds, already has whipped three of his rivals at least twice and the other four don't figure to present any problems for the quick-striking son of Nearctic-Natalma.

As it was in the Kentucky Derby and to a lesser degree in the Preakness, this third leg of America's most widely known racing series is expected to be another struggle between the Dancer and long-striding Hill Rise from the El Peco Ranch of California. The early line made Hill Rise the 2-1 second choice.

Hill Rise was favored in the Derby but bowed by a neck after a torrid final one-quarter mile. In the Preakness, the Dancer's cat-like movements gave him a daylight lead at the top of the stretch and he bounded home 2¼ lengths in front with The Scoundrel, with Hill Rise a nose further back. The Scoundrel is sitting the Belmont out because of a leg injury.

Bill Finnegan, 73-year-old trainer of Hill Rise, declined to disclose the strategy he has planned for jockey Bill Shoemaker, but you can be sure they'll not try to run with the Dancer early in the longest race in the Triple Crown series.

It should not be difficult to follow the two rivals for they will start from side-by-side stalls. Northern Dancer drew No. 2 post position and Hill Rise No. 3.

Because of the layout of Aqueduct's 1⅛-mile track, the first quarter-mile will be raced on a curve. Then comes nearly three-eights of a mile straightway before they swing into the bend leading to the backstretch. A long run down the backstretch leads into the final turn where position means much as they square off for the one-quarter mile dash to the finish line.

Paul Mellon's Quadrangle and Louis Wolfson's little Roman Brother, the other two original members of the Triple Crown starting cast, are next in line at 8-1 each.

After finishing fourth in the Derby and a dismal fifth in the Preakness, Roman Brother qualified for another shot at the big boys by winning last Saturday's Jersey Derby.

Quadrangle, fifth in the Derby and fourth in the Preakness, gave his backers hope by running second to the 5-year-old Olden Times in the Metropolitan Handicap last Saturday. But the Metropolitan was only a mile and Quadrangle carried a mere 113 pounds. In the Belmont each horse carries 126 pounds.

A victory by any of the others would rival Sherluck's triumph in 1951 when he paid $132.10 for $2 and spoiled Carry Back's bid for the Triple Crown. The outsiders are Herbert Allen's Determined Man and Shook, John Galbreath's Orientalist, and George D. Widener's Brave Lad.

Galbreath won last year with Chateaugay, but in the words of trainer Jimmy Conway, "Orientalist is well-bred but he is no Chateaugay."

Withdrawal Of Students Asked At Miami School

MIAMI (AP)—A group of University of Miami students, believed to include seven or eight football players, has been asked to withdraw by the school's Honor Council.

Two of the football players were believed to be first-teamers, according to the Miami Herald. The paper said the offense was apparently cribbing on final exams.

Henry King Stanford, university president, did not reveal any names, nor would he talk about the specific offense.

"A number of students has been asked to withdraw from the university at the end of the second semester of 1963-64," he said.

"Their offense was considered by the Honor Council, which recommended that the students be dropped from the university. The decision of the Honor Council was appealed to the president, who sustained the decision of the council."

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Warren Spahn, star Milwaukee Braves pitcher, was named the 1963 American Legion baseball Graduate of the Year Friday.

Mets Defeat Dodgers With Unearned Runs

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Mets scored seven unearned runs in the third inning, three on Ed Kranepool's homer, and went on to trounce the Los Angeles Dodgers 8-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Galen Cisco.

Cisco, the losing pitcher in last Sunday's 23-inning game with San Francisco, turned in his first complete game victory since Sept. 21, 1962. He walked one and struck out three in bringing his record to 3-5. Except for Willie Davis, who tripled in the first inning, only one Dodger got past first base.

Ron Fairly's error on Cisco's grounder paved the way for the Mets' outburst in the third. The ball went through Fairly's legs. Before Kranepool connected, the Mets scored on Roy McMillan's sacrifice fly, Ron Hunt's double and a single by Joe Christopher.

Charlie Smith followed Kranepool's blast with a home run. That sent Dodgers' starter Joe Moeller from the mound.

ing the Mets' total for 20 games to 497,350.

Bucs Topple Colts

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Roberto Clemente's two-out single climaxed a three-run rally in the ninth inning and gave Pittsburgh a 4-3 victory over Houston Friday night.

Clemente's single off reliever Gordon Jones scored Dick Schofield, who minutes before had singled.

Hal Woodeshick retired the first two Pirates before Jim Pagliaroni doubled and scored on pinch hitter Donn Clendenon's single. After Schofield singled, Manny Mota belted a pinch single that drove in Clendenon and brought on Jones.

Giants Win In 11th

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Pinch hitter Harvey Kuenn singled in the tie-breaking run and Chuck Hiller followed with a triple as the second-place San Francisco Giants defeated Philadelphia 5-3 in 11 innings Friday night and moved to within one-half game of the National League leading Phillies.

Tom Haller got the Giants started in the 11th by drawing a leadoff walk off Jack Baldschun. Jim Davenport sacrificed, and one out later, Kuenn batted for Bob Shaw and slapped a single that ripped off Richie Allen's glove at third and brought in the decisive run. Hiller wrapped it up with his triple.

The Giants had tied the score 3-3 in the eighth when Orlando Cepeda hit his sixth homer and chased starter Art Mahaffey.

Little Cookie Rojas scored all three Philadelphia runs. Rojas doubled in the first and scored on Richie Allen's sacrifice fly then doubled in the third and scored on Allen's double. He reached base on Jim Davenport's error in the fifth and moved around on John Callison's double and a sacrifice fly by Tony Gonzalez, putting the Phillies ahead 3-2.

The Giants scored twice in the top of the fifth when pitcher Juan Marichal and Hiller walked and raced home on a double by Willie McCovey.

Rojas got a final chance to win it for the Phillies in the bottom of the 11th when he came up with two men on and one out. He hit into a double play.

Reds Top Birds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Deron Johnson's two-run pinch-hit single in the last of the ninth capped a four-run uprising and gave the Cincinnati Reds a 5-4 victory over St. Louis Friday night.

Trailing 4-1, the Reds made the most of two errors to pull it out. John Edwards, leading off, reached first on a throwing error by Phil Gagliano. Billy Klaus followed with a single, and one out later, Pete Rose walked to fill the bases.

Tommy Harper then slapped a grounder which went under Ken Boyer's glove and brought in two runs. After Vada Pinson was walked intentionally, Johnson stroked his game-winning hit.

Glen Hobbie, acquired by the Cardinals three days ago, had a 4-0, four-hit shutout until the eighth when Pinson singled in the Reds first run.

Hobbie hit his first homer of the year and doubled for the Cardinals. Bill White also homered for St. Louis.

Surging Cubs Win

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The surging Chicago Cubs posted their eighth victory in the last 10 starts by defeating the Milwaukee Braves 5-2 Friday night with the help of a two-run homer by Joe Amalfitano and rookie Sterling Slaughter's six hit pitching.

Cub outfielder Billy Williams, the major league's leading hitter, collected a pair of singles in four trips to the plate, raising his mark two points to .413.

Amalfitano belted his first homer of the season with Jim Schaffer on a base as a result of an error in the third inning.

Billy Cowan singled in a run for the Cubs in the fourth and another in the two-run eighth as the Braves suffered their sixth defeat in their last seven games.

Bosox Stage 9 Run Uprising In Victory

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A nine-run second inning featuring a grand slam homer by Dick Stuart carried the Boston Red Sox to an 14-7 victory over the Kansas City Athletics Friday night.

Lee Thomas, starting his first game since he was acquired from the Los Angeles Angels, also homered for the Red Sox in the second. He had two singles in other appearances.

The Red Sox were at bat for 35 minutes in the second inning and sent 13 men to the plate. They collected five singles along with the two homers and drew three bases on balls. The Athletics used three pitchers.

Ed Bressoud, Russ Nixon and pitcher Earl Wilson singled in the first three runs against starter Moe Drabowsky. Tony Conigliaro singled in a run against Aurelio Monteagudo. Stuart delivered his grand slam homer against Monteagudo and Thomas also tagged Monteagudo for his homer.

Stuart's grand slammer was his third of the season and the seventh of his career. It was the second bases loaded homer he has hit against the A's this season.

Wilson gained his fourth victory against two losses. Wilson had trouble despite his big early lead and was chased in the eighth when Rocky Colavito hit his 14th homer.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jim King hammered a two-run homer and Bill Skowron collected three hits Friday night as the Washington Senators defeated the Cleveland Indians 5-3.

Washington pitcher Buster Narum was breezing along with a five-hitter when Vic Davalillo slammed his first homer in the eighth inning, scoring Dick Howser, who had doubled. Jim Duckworth came on and finished up.

King's homer in the fourth, after John Kennedy had doubled, put Washington ahead. The Senators added two runs in the seventh off starter Pedro Ramos, with the aid of Max Alvis' throwing error.

Angels Win, 3-2

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Newcomer Lou Clinton slammed a two-run homer Friday night and Jim Fregosi drove in the deciding run with a sacrifice fly, giving the Los Angeles Angels a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees.

That extended the Angels' winning streak to four games, their longest this season.

Clinton, an outfielder acquired from Boston Wednesday in exchange for outfielder Lee Thomas, got three of the 10 Los Angeles, hits picking up two singles in addition to his homer.

Left-hander Bo Belinsky pitched six innings for Los Angeles, allowing two runs on seven hits, and gained his third victory against three losses. Bob Lee held the Yanks scoreless the last three innings, strik-

Orioles Romp, 11-5

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Zoilo Versalles hammered two homers, driving in three runs, and Jimmie Hall knocked in another three as Minnesota snapped Baltimore's six-game winning streak 11-5 Friday night.

The loss, coupled with Chicago's 4-3 triumph over Detroit, dropped the Orioles out of first place, 23 percentage points behind the White Sox.

Versalles led off the Twins' four-run first with a homer, then connected after pitcher Lee Stange led off the sixth with a walk.

White Sox Win, 4-3

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox penetrated Detroit's ragged defense for four runs in the first three innings and handed the Tigers their sixth straight defeat 4-3 Friday night.

Hoyt Wilhelm turned in another stellar relief performance after starter Juan Pizarro tired in the seventh inning when the Tigers scored two runs on a double by George Thomas, a single by Dick McAuliffe and Jerry Lumpe's triple.

Wilhelm then got Al Kaline to fly out, ending the inning and helping Pizarro gain his sixth victory in eight decisions.

With two out in the second inning, Tom McCraw doubled. Gerry McNertney then beat out an infield hit, and McCraw scored as third baseman Jake Wood threw wild past first base with McNertney taking second.

Pizarro then lifted an infield fly and McNertney scored as the ball dropped between Wood and shortstop McAuliffe.

ABOUT 24 HOURS

Koufax's Night Came Too Late

NEW YORK (AP) — Sandy Koufax Night at Shea Stadium came about 24 hours too late. The Brooklyn boy had his own night Thursday in Philadelphia when he pitched his third no-hitter.

The special ceremonies for the Los Angeles Dodgers' lefty were not one of those gimmicks to stir up attendance and give politicians a chance to make speeches. A sellout had been assured long ago.

Instead of holding out Sandy for the special night, the Dodgers worked him in regular rotation in Philadelphia. That was all right with Casey Stengel, who would rather see Koufax taking bows than throwing bullets.

Sandy played his early baseball at the Parade Grounds in Brooklyn with the Tomahawks in the old Ice Cream League. In those days he was a first baseman. At Lafayette High school he was better known as a basketball player.

In addition to the usual oratory and gifts Friday night, Koufax received the Babe Ruth Award, voted to him last winter by the New York baseball writers as the outstanding player of the World Series.

Again and again he had to retell the story of the no-hitter. He rated Thursday night's effort superior to his two previous no-hitters.

"I felt I had better stuff than in the other two," he said. "It was the first time this season I've been able to put everything together. I had my old pitching rhythm back."

Jimmy Murphy, newspaper man and Brooklyn baseball historian, was picked to present the Babe Ruth Award to Koufax. Murphy knew Sandy as a boy, as he did most Brooklyn kids who have gone up to the majors in the past 50 years.

"Sandy was better known as a basketball player," said Murphy. "He got a basketball scholarship to the University of Cincinnati. People got interested in him when he fanned 16 men in a freshman game, though we knew all about him for a long time.

"He was a first baseman with a very strong arm, and he was very wild. The Dodgers knew about his wildness and I practically had to get down on my knees to get Al Campanis to have a look at him."

The Dodgers finally did sign Koufax for a bonus of about $20,000 in 1955, long before they moved from Brooklyn to Los Angeles.

IT'S EASY to see that Sandy "No-Hit" Koufax doesn't use that "greasy kid-stuff." Koufax, a star off the field as well as on it, dresses Thursday after pitching the third no-hitter of his career. THE SPORTS PATROL

Black Or White Uniform, Gary Player Still Tough

By STEVE SNIDER

RYE, N.Y. (UPI) — Sports of all sorts:

Gary Player, the South African golf ace, firmly believes in being cheerful in black and white. . . his golf costumes either are all black or all white and he rarely fails to come up with an optimistic quote in black and white print . . . he's the master of the superlative.

Whether he shoots a 64 or, as he did after a 71 in the first round week's $100,000 Thunderbird classic, he invariabley says: "I never hit the ball better in my life."

Arnold Palmer, who specializes in winning money on a golf course, has invested a chunk of it in numerous enterprises including a chain of driving ranges and putting courses. . .his company is giving away $65,000 in prizes for local competitors this year.

Lesser lights who qualify for the U.S. Amateur championship this year get a break under a "new" format devised by the U.S. Golf Association. . . they'll be assured of at least two rounds of competition in a 36-hole qualifying test to cut the starting list from 150 to 64 for the first round of match play . . . The Amateur has been all match play since '46, meaning half the boys had to go home after the first day. . . this year's tournament is scheduled for Cleveland's Cantebury Golf Club Sept. 14-19.

Al Oerter, world record setting discus thrower, continues his warm-up in a drive to win his third Olympic gold medal by competing in a club track meet at New York today . . . he seems to be in shape already. . . recently he pushed the work mark to 206 feet, 6 inches. . . Oerter was a teenager when he scored his first Olympic victory at Melbourne in '56 and repeated at Rome last year.

Bulova's electronic phototimer will help the Finish judges make decisions in five Olympic team trials this summer. . . the electric eye will be used at both men's and women's track and field trials, eight-oared rowing and pairs rowing in New York. . . it'll also be moved to California for the final men's track trials.

Princeton and Dartmouth are two of the Ivy League's most rugged football rivals in recent years but Princeton grad Frederick L. Van Lennep has a star has a star harness racer named Dartmouth being groomed for the Hambletonian . . . that was the colt's name when Van Lennep got him and he's one Princeton man who doesn't mind cheering for Dartmouth — at the race track.

Northern Dancer runs great as second choice in the betting but how will he go as the favorite?. . . racing's Triple Crown, last won by Citation in 1948 hinges on the answer. . . a mile and a half is a long way to go but this guess says he'll crack the long-standing Triple Crown jinx in the Belmont today.

READY FOR A WINNER

Pflugerville May Skyrocket Again

PFLUGERVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Pflugerville High School folks are perking up again.

Things died down somewhat last year when the football team suffered a losing streak after setting the national scholastic record of 55 straight victories.

Now they're talking about enlarging the stadium which seats only 800.

It was so taxed when Pflugerville was swinging along with the nation's greatest winning streak some games had to be played at surrounding towns that had better accomodations.

The night in 1962 when Pflugerville finally came to the end of the row, they played at Taylor, where 7,000 turned out to see Holland win, 12-6.

Last year the team lost its first two games, won one, lost two and then won five in a row.

So, Pflugerville has another streak going and they say here, quite cautiously, however, that with 27 experienced men back it might just be continued next fall.

Charles Kuempel, assisted by his cousin Hub Kuempel, coaches the team which is selected from a male enrollment of only 40 in a school of 90.

It was a green team last fall but the Kuempels had the Class B squad clicking before the season ended.

Northeast State Suffers Losses In NAIA Meet

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Don Kierbow of the University of Corpus Christi (Tex.), top-seeded in the singles, moved into the fourth round of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics tennis tournament today.

Kierbow defeated Jerry Kossover of Ouachita (Ark.) Baptist, 6-0, 6-4, as the tournament got under way again after being delayed a day by rain.

Southeastern Oklahoma State College, with three players still in the running in the singles and its doubles team seeded No. 5, pulled out of the meet. Its coach, Clarence Dyer, told the tournament director, Dr. R. V. Darling, that he didn't think his players would get to play because of the weather and that some of them had to go to work.

Southeastern's players included Ike Groce, seeded No. 6 in the singles, and its doubles team of Groce and Steve Roemer.

Northeast State's tennis entries were knocked out of the NAIA tournament Friday afternoon, suffering defeats in singles and doubles competition.

The Indians' Bob Owen was defeated by Gabino Palafox of Corpus Christi, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2. Palafox was fourth seeded in the tournament and has beaten Davis Cup star Dennis Ralston during regular season play.

THUNDERBIRD CLASSIC

Tony Lema Fires 67 For 2nd Round Lead

RYE, N.Y. (AP) — Champagne Tony Lema chipped in from 25 feet for an eagle three on the final hole Friday for a five-under-par 67 which shot him into the second round lead in the $100,000 Thunderbird Golf Classic.

His 36-hole score of 135 put him two strokes in front.

Stealing the thunder from favorite Arnold Palmer with an electrifying finish, the lean pro from San Leandro, Calif., broke a three-way deadlock with a 12-foot birdie putt on the 17th hole and then forged to the front with his dramatic windup.

Two shots back of him at 137 were those two stepchildren of destiny — ex-footballer Mike Souchak, with a second-round 68, and hard-luck Ken Venturi, with a steady 70.

These two men were rated potential champions nearly a decade ago before falling into prolonged slumps.

A cavalry charge rush for the $20,000 first prize developed as the tight, hilly Westchester Country Club course took a terrific beating for the second straight day.

Par is 36-36 — 72 and it was murdered. Sixteen players were bunched within four shots of each other at the head of the pack and some 75 players were par or better.

Palmer, the defending champion and people's choice, was one of a group of seven tied at 139 after a disappointing 71 marked by erratic iron play.

Palmer's chief rival for world golfing honors, Jack Nicklaus, also continued to have problems with his approach shots but salvaged a 69 for 142.

South Africa's Gary Player, one of the Big Three, suffered the day's major blowup, skying to a 78 without making a sizeable putt, and barely made the cutoff for the low 90 shooters with a total of 148.

TONY LEMA . . . In 1st Place

National Open champion Julius Boros and hot-putting Bill Casper matched Lema's sizzling 67 and remained in contention. Boros was at 139 and Casper at 138.

Charlie Sifford, one of two Negroes in the tournament, also had a 67 for 142.

Others at 138 were Paul Harney, beaten in an extra-hole playoff by Palmer last year, 68-70; Phil Rodgers, 67-71; Bobby Nichols, 68-70; Jay Dolan III, 69-69, and Australian Kel Nagle, 68-70.

Harvey Kuenn's Wife Runs Off Male Attacker

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) —The wife of San Francisco Giants outfielder Harvey Kuenn fought off a would-be rapist Friday. He left his shoes when he fled.

Dixie Ann Kuenn, 29, told police she was asleep when a man entered her bedroom and pinned her arms over her head.

She screamed and the Kuenn children, Robin Rene, 7, and her brother, Harvey Jr., 6, in an adjoining bedroom, started crying.

"I have a knife," Mrs. Kuenn quoted the attacker. "I'll cut your throat—I mean it—and I'll kill the kids, too."

Mrs. Kuenn screamed louder, she said, and bit the man's hand "very hard." He struck her, blacking her left eye, bloodying her nose and cutting her mouth.

Caskey To Direct Neville High Band

JOE W. CASKEY

Joe W. Caskey, director of music for Lee Junior High School for the past seven years, is the new director of the Neville High School Band.

Caskey was appointed this week to fill the position vacated earlier this month by Herbert Gathright, who resigned to accept a post with the Parkview Baptist Church.

The new director officially took over his duties this week, but will begin direction of the band later this summer, when it begins practice for the school year 1964-65.

A native of Arcadia, Caskey is a graduate of the Arcadia High School and Louisiana Polytechnic Instutite in Ruston, where he received his BA degree in Music Education.

Graduate work was done at the Vandercook College of Music, Chicago, Ill., where he received his Masters Degree in Music Education.

Tanganyika Fails To Sway Zanzibar

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)— The governments of Tanganyika and Zanzibar six weeks ago joined their two countries together to form a single sovereign republic. Since then little has been done to cement the union.

Western diplomats, concerned at Communist influence in Zanzibar, clearly are disappointed that Tanganyika's President Julius Nyerere has made almost no move to assert his authority over the island 20 miles off East Africa.

The Soviets, Chinese, and East Germans in Zanzibar remain active as ever.

One Tanganyika minister recently told a Western envoy:

"You can't expect legislation to change something like this overnight. We have to fight our battles one at a time."

Zanzibar still has separate currency control, cable censorship, and immigration regulations far more stringent than anything on the mainland. Visitors and people leaving the island are searched.

On paper, foreign affairs is the preserve of the united government but this has not stopped Zanzibar's President Abeid Karume from signing a friendship treaty with East Germany.

Tanganyika continues to recognize West Germany.

Foreign missions set up in Zanzibar after independence last year and after the revolution which overthrew the sultan's government, still are functioning as embassies. Communist-block representatives are giving no indication they are contemplating a pullout.

In the downtown area, the walls surrounding the big old Arab house of Peking-leaning Mohammed Babu are topped with barbed wire.

Babu is now one of three united Cabinet ministers responsible for the development of planning but his old Foreign Affairs Ministry in Zanzibar still is open for business.

He has Communist Chinese as his neighbors. Nearby are Soviet and East German Embassies.

At the cable office, teen-age Zanzibar Communist continue to censor all incoming and outgoing messages. In a backroom, an antique phonograph croaks out Red China marching songs.

The island's 300,000 people have been told almost nothing about the merger.

Throughout Zanzibar and the twin island of Pemba, the Zanzibar people's liberation army is guarding key positions.

Gov. McKeithen Wants Advisers For Tidelands

BATON ROUGE (AP) —Gov. John McKeithen called for a newly named committee of law deans and attorneys Friday to meet with him soon as an advisory group on tidelands negotiations.

The new group, which includes former Gov. Sam Jones of Lake Charles, was announced by McKeithen although he is in bed at the mansion with the mumps.

Some $600 million is tied up in federal escrow funds, representing oil revenues over the years from the disputed offshore territory.

Louisiana hopes for a financial windfall once an exact boundary line is determined.

Before taking office, McKeithen paid a visit to President Johnson in Washington. Later, he said the idea of Louisiana support for Johnson return for a tidelands settlement was "not suggested."

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Smart Uncle Creates Handy Kitchen Helper

By Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

My uncle came up with a really splendid idea. He cut a piece of peg board to fit over one side of our double kitchen sink.

I use this board for cutting watermelon, salad greens and various other things. Any surplus water drains through the holes to the sink. Eliminates water on the kitchen sideboard, cutting board, etc.

Mary D.

Wonder if your uncle is looking for any more nieces?

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When I sew on fancy trims or rickrack, I put a strip of waxed paper over it. This way I can see where I am sewing and the ends don't turn up under my presser foot.

After you have finished stitching, just pull the waxed paper off.

An Ardent Reader

Before pulling off that waxed paper, try pressing the rickrack with a warm iron first. Every little corner irons perfectly. I always pre-shrink my rickrack before using it. Saves puckers.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

This is my husband's idea so I had better give credit where it is due.

To feed a small baby in your arms can be a problem, but is made simple if you put his nearest arm behind you, and hold his other hand in yours.

You still have one free hand to feed him with.

D. Johns

Dear Heloise:

Here's a helpful hint for anyone who has to pack their husband's lunch:

I freeze all fruits in summer in the junior size baby food jars, then when the hot weather comes I pack a jar of it in the center of my husband's lunch box — right from the freezer.

By lunch time the fruit is thawed just right for eating and also his sandwiches, etc., are kept cool and no chance of them spoiling in the hot box.

Mrs. G. Gaddis, Sr.

Dear Heloise:

Every year, after washing my blankets I add a cup of mothballs to the rinse water.

The mothballs dissolve in the warm water, thus distributing evenly among the blankets. This gives them storage protection.

Amy Vaden

Dear Heloise:

When I am expecting company I make ice cubes in advance and place them in plastic bags. I store these in my freezer so that the bag does not touch any of the steel surfaces.

D.S.

Dear Heloise:

I solved the problem of grease splatters on my kitchen floor. Here's what I did:

I crocheted an oval rug (not a heavy one, any rag rug would do) about 16" x 21", which is easy to suds out. But after I suds it out, I squeeze undiluted liquid starch through it and smooth it out on the lineoleum while it is still sopping wet and let it dry there. (Note: linoleum. NOT ashpalt. Heloise)

The starch works two ways . . .it makes the rug easy to wash out AND it pastes the rug to the floor so that it doesn't slip, keeping it from wrinkling up. And OH! the grease splatters it catches.

Carbon Places Cypress Stump At 10,000 Years

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Specimens of a cypress stump unearthed at the base of 60-foot bluffs near the Port Hudson battlefield have been found to be more than 10,000 years old.

The results of a carbon dating test was received Thursday by Louisiana State University.

The information could bring a reappraisal of geological theories about the age of the lower Mississippi River Valley.

Last fall, Dr. Clair Brown, LSU professor of botany and plant pathology, had estimated the specimens were up to 15,000 years old.

Dr. Brown announced the results of the carbon test and said more facts are needed before any revision of geological theory could be considered.

"The results of the carbon dating test point to a revision of the age of the pleistocene prairie," he said.

The results are borne out by another recent finding near the Port Hudson battleground by Sherwood M. Gagliano, New Orleans, a member of the LSU coastal studies institute.

Gagliano had bored down to the same level as the earlier stumps and extracted organic matter. He then found thta the matter was about 12,000 years old. Gagliano's test bore was taken about one-half mile east of the river bluffs.

Water Congress Backs Projects For Waterways

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Rivers and Harbors Congress endorsed Friday 32 water projects as sound, needful and as having sufficient public interest to warrant construction.

The projects were endorsed at the annual meeting of the Congress, non-governmental organization dedicated to supporting various projects aimed at conservation of water and soil resources, such as navigable waterways and harbors,through such projects flood control, hurricane protection, soil conservation, reclamation and water conservation.

Projects endorsed by the congress would involve a total estimated cost of $2,705,920,000, the organization's projects committee said.

Projects endorsed include:

Louisiana: East Point, Lake Pontchartrain and vicinity, hurricane protection; Grand Isle and vicinity, hurricane protection.

In a study of the sleep patterns of 75 infants, Dr. Arthur H. Parmelee Jr., of the University of California at Los Angeles found that the longest sleep periods averaged 4.9, 4.3 and 4.2 hours on each of the first three days of life.

After the first week the ability of babies to sustain sleep rose rapidly to an average of 8.4 hours in the sixteenth week of life, according to Dr. Parmelee's report in "Medical Tribune," a publican for doctors.

Lose The Guy—He's Not Worth Your Right Arm

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: There is this real good-looking guy I'll call "J". I have seen him around for about a year, but I never thought I had a chance with him. Well, all of a sudden "J" called me up and asked me for a date. He is 21 and I am 18, but I'm very mature for my age. On our first date we got along swell. "J" is the kind of guy you can get acquainted with real fast. He told me he loved me, and said that maybe he would ask me to go steady, but first I had to "prove my love" (if you know what I mean). How can I hold him without proving my love? I would give my right arm to get this guy.

FALLING IN LOVE

DEAR FALLING: Lose him. He's not worth your right arm. What he needs is a right hook!

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a husband who goes fishing every Mother's Day and leaves his wife alone with the children? This has been going on for as long as I can remember. I finally got fed up this year and asked him what was the big idea leaving me every Mother's Day and he said, "I just can't face this town on Mother's Day because my mother is dead and I have to do something to give me a lift."

I guess it never occurred to him that I am also a mother, and maybe I could use a lift.

NOT LIFTED IN ROANOKE

DEAR NOT: If you wait for the obvious to occur to some men, you will wait a long time. It's high time it occurred to YOU to tell your sentimental sweetheart that someone besides himself could use a lift.

DEAR ABBY: I asked my girl what she wanted for her birthday and she said, "Give me a big colored picture of yourself in a real nice fame." Like a dope I had some pictures taken which cost me 22 bucks. Then I got a frame which set me back another 12 bucks. We broke up last week and this girl sent my picture back, but she kept the frame. I think she should have given me the whole works. What do you think?

SEYMOUR

DEAR SEYMOUR: You got the 'works" all right. But you did GIVE her the picture and the frame as a gift, so it all belongs to her. (Maybe she's framing somebody else now.)

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter signed "TWENTY - TWO AND MISERABLE." She was the young bride whose husband informed her shortly after their marriage that he had spent $500 on an investigation of her past, and he took great pleasure in throwing up to her a "mistake" she had made.

Tell her to ask her husband what a $500 investigation of HIS past would have turned up. It's strange how, when a girl makes a mistake, it's a crime, but when a man makes the same mistake 30 or 40 times, it's just an incident. When I became engaged, my husband asked me if I was "pure." I told him I was just as "pure" as he was, and he married me anyway.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Are you all tied up in knots at the end of a day? Do you come home and flop down on a bed from weariness? Before taking that little liedown (which is a splendid idea) do a few relaxing exercises.

If your work is sedentary, you will not be physically tired, but your muscles may be tense. The following exercises will refresh you in a way you will not believe until you try them.

1. Stand tall, feet comfortably separated. Raise your arms forward, shoulder height, with palms toward the floor. Swing your arms as far around to the right as you can and look at the back of the room. Now swing them as far to the left as you can and look at the back of the room. Hands and wrists should be relaxed and the swinging back and forth should be lazy and smooth.

COMPLETE CIRCLES

2. Still standing let your head roll in a circle for a while in one direction and then in the other. Make the circle complete. If this makes you dizzy, alternate the direction of the rolls, to the left, then to the right, then to the left, and so on.

3. Still standing with your feet separated, lower your trunk forward, letting your arms and head dangle down toward the floor. Be thoroughly relaxed, like a rag doll. Lift your trunk just a little and then let it flop down again. Continue, bouncing up and down as though you had a spring in your back.

LIE ON BACK

Now lie on the bed on your back. Raise your arms up in front of you and shake your hands. Fingers and wrists should be relaxed.

Place cold wet cotton pads over your eyes and relax completely for as long as you can. Do not put a pillow under your head.

If you would like to have my relaxing exercise leaflet, send a stamped, self - addressed envelope with your request for leaflet number 24 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Negro Is Killed In Area Crash; Woman Injured

MANGHAM (Special) — An elderly Negro man was killed and a 44-year-old woman was seriously injured in a headon car collision about 4:30 p.m. Friday near here.

According to investigating state police, a car driven by Alex King Sr., Negro, of Ferriday, was traveling south on state highway 15 about a mile and half south of here when it collided with a car going north driven by Lorraine H. Phillips of Baton Rouge.

The Negro apparently died instantly and the injured woman, traveling alone, was still in surgery at St. Francis Hospital in Monroe late Friday night.

State police said the collision was in King's lane. Two young boys with him were reportedly not hurt seriously.

King's death was the ninth traffic fatality since Jan 1 in Richland Parish, state police reported.

Two Are Injured In 3-Car Crash

A Texas man and his wife, were injured Friday afternoon in a three-car accident in the 1100 block of Louisville Avenue.

Alma Fries, 58, 1606 Norfolk St., Houston, Tex., was admitted to St. Francis Hospital with neck and other possible injuries. Her condition was not believed serious. Max Fries, her husband, was treated and released.

According to police, a car driven by Fries was traveling east on Louisille Avenue, when it slowed for a car in front. A vehicle driven by Brenda Smith, 18, of Rt. 4, Box 567, West Monroe, slammed into the rear of the Fries vehicle, knocking it into a third vehicle in front.

Jury Here Finds 3 Men Guilty

Three persons were found guilty Friday by a 12-man jury in Fourth District Court on combined charges of simple burglary of a movable.

Roy William Hinkle and Mary Hinkle, both of Athens, Ala., and John William Pierce, Waverly, Tenn., were found guilty of the charges and remanded by Judge Hillyer S. Parker to await sentencing.

ANOTHER RED CLAIM

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet scientists have claimed a new step forward in growing plants under artificial conditions so cosmonauts can eat fresh carrots and tomatoes in outer space.

Federal Judges Rule Negro Can Enter Northeast

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled Friday that a Negro can enroll in summer session at the all-white Northeast State College at Monroe, La.

The three-judge court granted an injunction to Sara Louis McCoy who has been seeking authority to enroll at the Monroe school since 1960.

Her attorneys told the court she had been denied the right to attend Northeast State only because of her race.

Attorneys representing the Louisiana State Board of Education told the court the college is restricted to white students by state statutes.

National Guard Alert 'Dry Run'

JONESBORO (Special) — National Guard units in Lincoln and Union Parishes were put on alert for a short period Friday night but authorities said it was a "dry run" and did not involve any trouble.

Practice alerts are staged periodically by the National Guard, the authorities said.

President Kyser, currently serving as chairman of the Presidents' Council of Louisiana's state-supported colleges, advanced through the ranks from instructor to department head to president at NSC. He has added his institution for the past decade.

Introducing Dr. Kyser will be a former student, faculty member and dean at his institution, Dr. George T. Walker, president of Northeast State College. President Walker was dean of the School of Applied Arts and Sciences and dean of administration at Northwestern State before becoming president here in 1958.

The invocation and benediction will be pronounced by the Rev. George W. Harbuck, pastor of First Methodist Church. The processional and recessional music will be by the Northeast Concert Band, conducted by Richard F. Steff.

Special music will be provided by Steff and Larry Joe Cook, trumpets, and Mrs. Eloise Stanhope, accompanist.

Honor graduates will be recognized by Dr. Clint O. Hanna, dean of instruction, who will also present the candidates for degrees. Degrees will be conferred by President Walker, assisted by Dean Hanna and Dr. Lake Oxford, registrar.

A reception honoring graduates and their friends will be held immediately after the commencement exercises in the College Union Building.

In case of rain, commencement exercises will be moved from the stadium to Brown Auditorium.

Serving as parade marshals for the processionals will be James W. Parkerson, chairman of the commencement committee, and Dr. August Danti. Members of Scabbard and Blade will serve as ushers. Included are Robert Gill of Sterlington, Jim Davis of Monroe, Richard Guin and Martin Fisher of West Monroe, Johnny Morris of Columbia and Eddie Waldrup of Quitman.

TOKYO (AP)—The New China News Agency reports 3,500 Red China technicians and laborers had left Mongolia for home before June 3 "at the proposal of the Mongolian government and according to the arrangements made by it and the Chinese government."

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed 10 cents a bale higher to $1.25 lower Friday.

Nearby July contracts advanced on trade covering. New crop months declined as selling was attracted by Thursday's sharp market rise extending to $4 a bale. The buying was set off by trade views that new regulations for the cotton subsidy will be restrictive on cotton marketings and may send a good deal of the 1964 crop into the government loan. Detailed provisions of the subsidy regulations are e xpected to be issued within the next week or so.
